New CEO of Dewynters and acquisition of Jampot Consulting Limited

r4e, the transatlantic media and entertainment marketing group, is pleased to announce the appointment of James Charrington as CEO of Dewynters Limited, the Company's live entertainment marketing and advertising agency in London, with effect from 11 April 2016. James will replace Bob King, who has stepped down as CEO, but will continue to work as a creative consultant to Dewynters until 31 August 2016. Anthony Pye-Jeary, co-founder of Dewynters, has also decided to leave the company at the end of May 2016.

James Charrington began his career in arts marketing at Dewynters in 1989. In 2002, he started the advertising agency Koenig Englaender in Hamburg, turning the city's riverboats and harbour front yellow for The Lion King, as well as working with visitor attractions and football clubs across Germany. In 2006, he took responsibility at Stage Entertainment for commercial activity across Europe. In 2014, he set up Jampot Consulting Limited ("Jampot"), working with, amongst others, the National Theatre and Sonia Friedman on ticketing and marketing strategies.

David Stoller, Executive Chairman, r4e, said:

"We are delighted to welcome James to Dewynters and the r4e Group. He will continue the legacy of excellence established by Robert De Wynter, Anthony Pye-Jeary and Bob King, and we are confident that he will bring further innovation and success for our clients in this fast changing world."

r4e has entered into an agreement with James Charrington to acquire 100 per cent. of Jampot, subject, inter alia, to completion of due diligence satisfactory to r4e and its bankers. The Board of r4e believes the IP in digital marketing that Jampot can bring will be beneficial to the Group and add to its service offering. It has been agreed that the consideration payable for Jampot will be satisfied by the issue of 3,666,666 new ordinary shares in r4e at 1.5p per share, which would represent approximately 0.77 per cent. of the current issued ordinary share capital of r4e.
